

```

-- coding: utf-8 --
"""
Created on Wed Nov 12 18:06:52 2025

@author: Marty
"""

import the turtle library

import turtle

#Create a turtle screen,  with a yellow background
wn=turtle.Screen()
wn.bgcolor("lightyellow")

#our turtle is named tess
tess = turtle.Turtle() # Create tess and set some attributes tess.color("blue")
tess.pensize(5)

Rectangle to take a length & width of each side and draw a rectangle
def rectangle(length, width):
    """rectangle function takes in 2 arguments: length & width (L & W), it is expecting a numerical for both, no error control. L & W are interspersed and rotated by 90 degress in a 2D Cartesian plane."""
    for i in range(2):
        tess.forward(length)
        tess.left(90)
        tess.forward(width)
        tess.left(90)

#tess.penup()
#tess.forward(120)
#tess.pendown()

rectangle(50, 30)

stop drawing
turtle.done()
turtle.bye()

#close the turtle window after viewing it and before running another turtle
program

```